

MOSTLY CLAPTRAP.

There is More Nonsense Spoken on the Tariff

Than Any Other Question Thinks Senator Kyle.

BACK AND FORTH.

We Are Swinging Between Two Points of Rest.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—[Special.]—"We shall push the bill rapidly now," said Senator Kyle in a general talk on his position as to the tariff. "And for my part I am willing to concede a great deal if we can only make some kind of a start in reforming the system of taxation. They have fallen on Mr. Allen and me pretty heavily of late, and according to what I hear, are rather more out of humor with us than with the Democrats, but for myself I must say that I have always been a free trader and never concealed it. It used to embarrass me a great deal when I was a Republican, for in every campaign they insisted on fighting the old battle over again, and take it all in all there is more claptrap on both sides of it than almost any other question. I put it up like this: That there are only two points of rest—absolute free trade and absolute prohibition of foreign trade, which was the old Chinese system. As long as we swing between these never can be a stable tariff. As I said in my speech, I think that the teachings of 100 years are sufficient to prove that every restraint to intercourse between this and foreign nations should be removed so far as is consistent with revenue, but if they insist on having a partly protective bill of course I want raw wool protected in some kind of proportion to woolen goods."

Free Coal and Free Wool.

"What are the products of South Dakota most affected by the bill at it stands?" "Well, in my judgment, protection does us no good in the long run. We are interested like the rest of the country in getting cheap clothes and cheap sugar, but I doubt very much whether free coal, over which they are making such a fuss, would make a particle of difference to us. It is the transportation which makes it cost us so much anyhow, and in that part of Canada adjacent to us there are no coal mines. As to free wool, why, we have the finest kind of pastures and intelligent breeders and managers of sheep, and if the Yankee cannot hold his own with the rest of the world what are we here for? The point that I urge most is that on the line they are now traveling the tariff question will remain unsettled as long as selfish interests conflict and the greed of man is unsatisfied."

"It is on these changes that the sharper gets in his work. The tariff has been changed on an average every two or three years from the start—some 40 times in all, I believe—and the speculators slip in between the changes and make enormous fortunes on the alternating rise and fall. For instance, while the McKinley bill was pending the dealers stocked up and got all the benefit of the rise. Now they are holding back for a decline in the rates. By and by the Republicans, so they tell us, will come into power again and raise the tariff away up. If experience counts for anything, they will raise it higher than ever before, and once more the dealers will stock up and realize on the rise."

A Tariff Commission.

"Why not have a permanent commission, then, to settle the rates?" "Why didn't we appoint a commission of slaveholders to settle the slavery question? How could you get a commission that was not composed of interested parties? Congress would have to pass on the work of the commission just the same and would accept or reject its work just as it has done heretofore. Congress cannot farm out its legislative powers. Commissions are only valuable in dealing with very technical and scientific affairs, matters in which the general citizen is not competent to take the judgment of experts, but this question of taxation is one which never can be got out of politics. It cannot be delegated to experts. The tariff must stay in politics, and right in the center of it, because it is a matter of taxation, and there is no other power for it but politics. The most threatening national evil of today—that is, centralization of wealth—is directly connected with the tariff in the minds of the people, and they will never let it alone. The west has been voting with the east on this question merely for the sake of compromise and getting nothing in return. There is profound dissatisfaction all over the country, and how can you have stability on the old lines? If the people had been satisfied with the legislation of the last 30 years on this subject they would not have voted the Republicans out of power. As to being in competition with the labor of Europe, why the farmers are already in that fix. So I say, as I said before, in absolute free trade except for revenue there is stability, and in absolute prohibition there is stability, but anywhere between this question will be like a football batted back and forth and no one can get it out of the end."

Senator Peffer in Doubt.

Mr. Kyle went on at some length upon the concentration of wealth and the depression in agriculture and kindred topics, with some figures to show that the American manufacturer's labor really costs him but a trifle more than does the labor in Europe, and that while the French Canadians are driving the natives out of the New England mills the Slavs and Hungarians are driving them out of the mines, and the farmer's market is cut down, and altogether the outlook is a trifle blue. However, as he has said all this and a good deal more in various speeches, it need not be repeated. The interesting fact is that he and Senator Allen are as eager as any Democrat to bring the discussion to a close, and that the end is near. The Populists in the house continue to swear by all that's good and great that Senator Peffer must and shall vote for the bill so long as the income tax clause is in it, but the clerical senate has so far kept his own counsel with success, and the Republicans regard him as certainly theirs.

The dead calm which settled upon the house after the storm over the Indian bill was the most natural thing in the world, and it took a day or two of discussion on the tariff bill to get up much heat. Mr. Warner of New York made what some think the greatest effort of his life in opposition to the bill, and it was plain ## from the start that the measure was nothing like as strong in this house as in the previous one, when it passed.

SATURDAY'S RACES.

An Interesting Wheeling Event at the Fair Grounds.

The bicycle races at the fair grounds Saturday were attended by a large crowd. It was the first real racing meet that has occurred here in bicycle circles, and the result showed some pretty stiff records.

Mr. Maurice Stevenson, of this city, was the hero of the day. He entered four races, carrying off the first prize in every one.

The first race was a half mile novice and there were three entries: M. Stevenson, O. T. Shaffer and J. McGaffin.

Stevenson got a dressing case as first prize and Shaffer a pair of shoes for second. Time, 1:10 4-5.

The second race was a one mile handicap. There were eight entries. Stevenson won first easily, receiving as a prize a pair of Morgan & Wright tires. G. O. Bartell, won a Garford saddle for second place. Time, 2:27.

The third race, which was a mile open, Stevenson again came in ahead of the others, winning a pair of trousers. E. J. Rawson won second prize, a box of cigars. Time, 2:51 1/2.

The fourth race was a half mile handicap, and was won by G. D. Bartell. E. J. Rawson won second prize. Bartell received a pair of trousers, and Rawson a hat. Time, 1:12.

The boys' half mile race was a walk-around for Louis Wikidall. He won a pair of bicycle shoes, and Frank Whit, who came in second, won a luggage carrier. Time, 1:52 4-5.

The sixth race was the biggest of the afternoon. Six beatovers entered, each with an idea that he could win first prize, but the swift man, Stevenson, won in this race, and he won a $20 gold medal offered by A. C. Duckworth. The race was a five-mile handicap and was very exciting.

H. D. Crosby rushed Stevenson pretty hard, but the latter got down to work and brought his Victor in ahead. Crosby won a hat. E. J. Rawson came in third. Time for the five miles was 13:30.

Following the bicycle races was a horse running race of 600 yards, in which J. E. Ansel's horse won over Ed Knight's. Time, 36 seconds.

The only accident that occurred during the afternoon was in the last race when J. McGaffin was thrown from his wheel. He was not seriously hurt, but it spoiled his chances for winning.

Stevenson rode a Victor bicycle; Rawson, a Cleveland; McGaffin, an "ordinary," and Crosby, a Victor.

SENATOR PERKINS WEALTH.

Most of It Was in Washington, Where He Owns Property.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The family of the late ex-Senator Bishop W. Perkins, of Kansas, will continue to make their home in this city, and the remains of the dead jurist and statesman rest in Rock Creek cemetery.

Little can be known of the condition of the estate, except that the ex-senator was a money-maker ever since he left congress and returned to the practice of law, and the business ventures which he made were invariably successful.

He had arranged for the immediate wants of his family by life insurance in various companies, aggregating at least $35,000. The home of the family is valued at $20,000 and other pieces of property purchased by him in and around Washington at least $30,000. He is also believed to have earned considerable property in Kansas and the Indian Territory. He was interested, also, in various minor enterprises, most of them in an inceptive state, from which, had lived, he would have realized a large fortune, but which will not in a settlement at the present time, produce any considerable income. His business partner, Judge J. C. Chandler, is, however, confident that the family is amply provided for.

COXEYITES AT GRAY GABLE.

Mahatmas Will Lead Them On a Crusade to Worry Mrs. Cleveland.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., June 25.—Henry H. Fouke and George Fulkens, of Philadelphia, president and secretary of the Mahatmas navy, arrived here in order, as they say, to set up a monastery of theosophists at Onset Bay, a mile and a half from Gray Gables. But this is not what Mr. Fouke really has in mind.

He has arranged to bring Coxey's army here, a schooner as soon as congress adjourns, and that they will be encamped in a forest tract at the head of Onset and Buttermilk bays.

"They'll work, bless you," said he when asked what they would do when he got them here. "They'll have to dig claims, saw wood and the like of that. They want to come. These things work themselves. You can't stop them. It's one of the forerunners of troubles ahead that will be much more than we have passed through."

A WHACK AT LABOR.

The Democratic Senate Lays Labor Day Bill on the Table.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Speaker Crisp returned to the capitol Saturday after a week's absence on account of sickness, and called the house to order. His entrance in the chamber was a signal for a burst of applause.

Senate bill making labor day a legal holiday was ordered to lie on the speaker's table for the present.

TWENTYFOUR DROWN.

A Heavily Loaded Tug in New York Bay,

Goes Down Like a Stone With All on Board.

NONE ARE SAVED.

And None of Their Bodies Yet Recovered.

New York, June 25.—The tug James D. Nichol, with sixty-three excursionists and a crew of twelve, sank at about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon three miles off the Highlands. Fifty-four of those on board have been accounted for, the rest were probably drowned.

When about three miles east of the Highlands, and about four miles south of Scotland light ship the waves began to break heavily over her starboard rail. To dodge the water and wind the passengers began to run around to the port side and to climb on top of the deckhouse. The boat careened alarmingly to port and the water swept in over the rail. The terror-stricken men rushed back to starboard and the tug swung deeply down on that side. At the same moment a number of heavy breakers struck the boat in quick succession. The captain, William Hyatt, stuck pluckily to his post and sounded the whistle in a prolonged scream for help. Even as he did so the tug filled with water that poured into her from both sides, and sank out of sight in the water. She went down like a stone, carrying many of the passengers with her.

The water choked the cry of the whistle, but not before it had been heard and heeded. The Clyde steamship Algonquin, a mile away, heard it and swung around to go to the rescue. The tugs Wallace B. Flint, R. J. Moran and Governor also hurried to the spot, and succeeded in rescuing forty-four of the excursionists.

A few hours after sinking the tug was pretty well broken up and the wreckage began to come ashore. Before dark the entire beach was strewn with it. Forty-three lunch baskets were washed up. No bodies have come ashore.

FIVE PEOPLE DROWNED.

A Boat Containing Six Persons Capsized and but One Is Saved.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 25.—A catboat was capsized by a sudden squall yesterday morning off the Atlantic yacht club house at the foot of Fifty-sixth street, Brooklyn. A pleasure party consisting of six people, two men, two women and a boy, and a 2-year girl were thrown into the water. The accident was witnessed from the shore and the Atlantic club's steam yacht at once put out to the rescue. The men and the women and the boy sank, however, before assistance could be rendered them. The little girl was saved.

Three People Killed by a Water Tower. COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 25.—About 5 o'clock yesterday morning, while the fire department was drilling on Broad street, the immense water tower toppled over and crushed into a surrey, killing James H. Frederick, Mr. Frederick's wife and a gentleman named Rigby, who were in the surrey escaping.

The Welsh Mine Horror. Number Killed by Explosion in the Albion Colliery Aggregates 250.

CARDIFF, June 25.—The men who have volunteered to search the Albion colliery at Glynndaf, the scene of the terrible explosion of fire damp, have been at work all day, but no further rescues have been effected. All hope for those still in the pit has been abandoned. The number of the dead will, it is believed, reach 250. It has been ascertained that 267 men and boys descended the shaft and of this number only seventeen have been saved.

Late last evening the rescuing parties succeeded in extricating a large number of bodies. Thus far 142 bodies have been taken from the pit.

A telegram was received from the queen. Her majesty said she was much shocked by the sad disaster, and expressed her deep sympathy with the families of the dead.

GEN. TARNSEY'S CONDITION.

The Inflammation in His Face Is Greatly Reduced.

DENVER, Col., June 25.—General T. J. Tarnsey, who received a coat of tar and feathers at the hands of his enemies Saturday morning, is resting easier. The inflammation in his face is greatly reduced, but is still anything but comfortable, and his body has somewhat recovered from stiffness, resulting from the treatment and his long walk. The strain upon his nerves was so great he was nearly prostrated when he found himself among friends, but he has in a great degree recovered from the prostration.

Perkins Memorial Services.

OSWEGO, Kan., June 25.—This city, the home of ex-Senator Perkins, was, at the hour of the funeral of the distinguished dead in Washington Saturday, properly decorated with emblems of mourning to honor the memory of her illustrious citizen. Yesterday at 4:30 the people of the city and country, irrespective of party, met in the opera house here and impressive memorial services were held.

WILL HELP THE STRIKERS.

The American Railway Union Has Decided to Make a Fight on Pullman.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 25.—At an executive session of the local branch of the American Railway Union held here yesterday the unpublished portion of the recent proceedings of the union at Chicago was detailed to the members present. It consisted of the plans made to assist the strikers at Pullman in their fight against the Pullman Palace Car company. The next move will be the calling out of the workmen in the shops at St. Louis and at Ludlow, Ky. After all the workmen are out the switchmen in the yards will refuse to make up any trains with Pullman cars. Trains will be made up as usual, but the switchmen will refuse absolutely to handle a Pullman car.

This order will be extended over practically the whole country. Should the railroads manage to get Pullman cars on any train, then the train crew, including engineer, fireman, conductor, and brakeman, will refuse to take the train out, and should any railroad company discharge any switchmen for refusing to handle Pullman cars, every man belonging to the union employed on that road to the union employed on that road. It was carefully explained, however, that this fight was not against the railroad companies, and the hope was expressed that it would not be necessary to call out the employees of any road.

The faculty of the Kansas Medical college met at the office of Doctors Minney and Magee on Saturday evening to transact such business as would come before it at that time.

The faculty decided to have 15,000 copies of the new college catalogue issued. They will be ready for delivery in about two weeks.

It was intended to elect two new instructors for the coming year, but this was postponed until the next meeting.

The chair of materia medica made vacant by the resignation of Dr. T. W. Peers will be supplied. Doctors W. S. Lindsay and J. E. Minney have conducted the classes since Dr. Peers was taken ill.

Also the chair of hygiene, made vacant by the departure of Dr. W. L. Schenck, to Colorado, will be filled. Dr. Rafter, of Holton, is mentioned prominently for this chair.

Judge Saunders

Says that For Rheumatism Hood's Sarsaparilla is the Best Remedy He Ever Took.

Rheumatism is a very painful affliction, and who finds a remedy which will give relief, much more a cure, is justified in proclaiming the merits of that medicine that others similarly afflicted may learn how to be cured. Judge T. H. Saunders of Osceola, Neb., senior vice-commander and present commander of J. F. Reynolds Post, No. 26, G. A. R., voluntarily writes:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs: I was in the army four years, in and about Richmond, Va. In 1864, while at City Point, Va., I was wounded and contracted sciatica and rheumatism. I have suffered ever since, and have been treated by physicians most of the time. I lost the use of my left leg and side, and have tried almost every medicine known besides the treatment given to me by my physicians, and I think I have had the best in the country, but failed to get relief. Every spring I was flat on my back, and must say that

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the Best medicine I have ever taken. It has done me the most good. It is recommended to me for rheumatism, and I am satisfied and know that it will do all that you claim for it. I do not want to say that it will raise a fellow from the dead; but it will come the nearest to doing it of any medicine I have ever known or used, and I expect to keep it in my family as long as there is one of us left. I have recommended it to every person who is afflicted." T. H. SAUNDERS, Osceola, Nebraska.
